

ROOSEVELT SPURS CONGRESS WITH THREE MESSAGES

PRESIDENT WRITES OF PANAMA CANAL

Long Message Describes What He Saw on Recent Visit and Contains Recommendations

PUBLIC LANDS AND NAVY ALSO TEXTS

Washington, Dec. 17.—President Roosevelt today transmitted to congress three special messages—one dealing with the Panama canal and detailing his recent visit to the canal zone, another concerning public lands and needed legislation concerning the administration of them, and a third relating to the naval personnel and recommending important changes in the laws thereupon.

The Panama message was of considerable length and was accompanied with voluminous appendices setting forth in detail the status of or the work, affairs of administration and the like.

Tomorrow the president will transmit to congress a special message embracing the final report of late Secretary of Commerce and Labor Metcalf on the situation affecting the Japanese in San Francisco.

Wednesday a special message embodying the president's reply to the resolution of the senate calling for detailed information concerning the dishonorable discharge of three companies of colored troops from the United States army for participation in the riots at Brownsville, Texas, will be transmitted.

The reading of the messages took practically all of the time of the senate. The reading was delayed in the house by the fact that it was suspension day. The Panama message attracted great interest because it was elaborately illustrated, showing the work on the great waterway in its various stages. It was in the form of a very entertaining story of the president's visit. At it was read the senators followed it closely from hand-somely bound copies which had been laid out for their desks.

President Describes His Visit and Conditions Along the Inter-Oceanic Waterway at Panama.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Following is the text of President Roosevelt's special message on the Panama canal, transmitted to congress today:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

In the month of November I visited the Isthmus of Panama, going over the Canal Zone with considerable care, and also visited the cities of Panama and Colon, which are not in the zone or under the United States flag, but as to which the

ON PUBLIC LANDS.

President Urges Radical Changes in the Land Laws.

Washington, Dec. 17.—President Roosevelt's message on public lands, transmitted to congress today, was as follows:

To the Senate and House of Representatives: Public land laws.

The developments of the past year emphasize with increasing force the need of vigorous and immediate action to recast the public land laws and adapt them to the actual situation. The timber and stone act has demonstrated conclusively that its

PLANNING TO ERECT NEW CHURCH EDIFICE TO COST $35,000

Congregation of English Lutheran Church of the Redeemer Will Act.

Preparations are under way for the erection of a handsome new church at a cost of about $35,000 by the congregation of the English Lutheran church of the Redeemer, at Washington boulevard and Fulton streets.

While decisive action in the matter has not been taken, the building project has been discussed at a number of the meetings of the official board of the congregation, and the sentiment is so universally in favor of the improvement that it is believed the preparation of plans will be authorized within a few weeks.

The congregation is in an excellent condition, both financially and spiritually, having about 145 voting members representing about 250 families and from $50 to $900 souls. During the present year the church has erected a handsome pastoral residence adjoining the present church building. Real estate owned comprises a frontage of 100 feet on Washington street and 150 feet on Fulton street.

The present church building is an old frame structure, which was originally the church home of the Plymouth congregation, and was purchased by the English Lutheran church of the Redeemer in 1892.

The members of B. Paul Mossman's Sunday school class have organized a bowling team and will play their first game tomorrow evening.

MRS. BELL'S WILL FOUND IN TRUNK AND IS PROBATED

Search for Document at Time of Death Failed to Turn It Up.

The will of Clara E. Bell, widow of the late Robert C. Bell, which was lost for a long time after her demise, was offered for probate in the circuit court today and all of the legal formalities incidental to putting it on record were completed.

It was thought for a time that she had died intestate, but the relatives in looking through her belongings discovered it in an old trunk instead of among her other valuable papers. It was drawn May 8, 1902.

The greater portion of it is devoted to the division of her jewelry among Elizabeth Brady Ball, Sabina Wolf Wilson, Winifred Adams, Caroline Brady, Clara Bell Dills, Bertha Croxley and Lillian Colpoys, each of whom received some valuable gifts. Her library was given to Edmund A. Ball and the attention of her executors is called to some private papers in which other bequests are made with the stipulation that they be distributed in the administration of her estate.

The bulk of the real and personal property is left to Arthur Wolf Brady, Elizabeth Brady Ball and Winifred Adams, who are named as executors. There is nothing in the will to indicate the value of the estate left by Mrs. Bell.

The clerical crowd subsequently followed Monsignor Amlette to the church of St. Francis Xavier, where the coadjutor celebrated a benediction service, at the end of which he thanked those present for the sentiments they had manifested and exhorted

TRAIN WRECKERS CAUSE DEATH OF THREE PERSONS

Lives Lost by Derailing of Texas and Pacific Train.

New Orleans, Dec. 17.—Three men are dead, one seriously hurt and two others slightly injured as the result of the derailing of Texas and Pacific passenger train No. 51 supposedly by train wreckers at Waterport, thirty-two miles west of here, last night. This is said to be the third recent attempt to derail the same train.

The Dead.

ANDREW MYERS, white, fireman. Two unknown tramps.

Seriously Injured.

Chris J. Link, engineer, badly scalped.

The baggage-master and an unknown negro were slightly hurt.

The train left New Orleans at 7:30 o'clock last night and was going at full speed when it ran into the open switch. The engine turned over and the mail and baggage cars piled on top of it.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Speaker Cannon today announced the following committee assignments:

GREAT SHAKE-UP IN THE CABINET

One Member Retires, New Face Comes In, and Two Old Members Take New Places

SCHEDULED REARRANGEMENT IS EFFECTED

Washington, Dec. 17.—Three changes in the arrangement and one change in the personnel of President Roosevelt's cabinet took place today. Attorney General William H. Moody retired from the cabinet and will soon be sworn in associate justice of the supreme court of the United States. Victor H. Metcalf, secretary of commerce and labor, was transferred from that position to the position of secretary of the navy, which Charles J. Bonaparte quits to succeed Mr. Moody as attorney general. Oscar S. Straus, of New York, today inducted into the office of secretary of commerce and labor, is the new member of the president's official family.

Straus Goes In.

The ceremony incident to the retirement of Secretary Metcalf, who has been at the head of the department since July 1, 1905, and the induction into office of Secretary Straus took place this morning in the secretary's offices at the department. Mr. Metcalf, in relinquishing the duties of office, formally expressed to those about him his great personal regret at the severance of relations which always had been so pleasant.

Secretary Straus, in a brief address, expressed the desire to continue the present relations that existed between Secretary Metcalf and the officials of the department.

Metcalf Becomes Marine Minister.

Secretary Metcalf arrived at the navy department in company with Secretary Bonaparte. The oath of office was administered by Solicitor Hanna, of the navy department, in the presence of Assistant Secretary Newberry, Rear Admiral Rixey, surgeon general of the navy and other officials of the department of commerce and labor and navy.

Secretary Bonaparte congratulated the new secretary on the compliment implied on his choice for the office of secretary of navy.

Secretary Metcalf briefly responded, declaring that he always had taken an interest in the American navy. The secretary then received the officers and employees of the navy department.

Bonaparte Takes New Oath.

At 11 o'clock Charles J. Bonaparte, the retiring secretary of the navy, took the prescribed oath as attorney general of the United States and immediately entered on his new duties. The obligation was administered by Mr. Sornberger, the supreme clerk of the department of justice in the presence of his predecessor, William H. Moody, the assistant attorney general, the solicitor general and the other principal officers of the department of justice.

Mr. Moody was the first to offer his congratulations to the new attorney general and wished him a most successful administration.

Attorney General Bonaparte in a few appropriate words declared that he would be guided in the performance of his duties by the example and counsel of his predecessor.

A NEW INJUNCTION SUIT PREPARED AGAINST TAX CONTRACT

The Commissioners Did Not Hold Session Today and Matter Rests.

In event a new contract is made between Joseph B. Workman and the board of county commissioners for the placing on the duplicate sequestered taxes another injunction suit will be filed. The papers are prepared and in the office of a local firm of attorneys.

Late Saturday afternoon the commissioners consulted Henry Colerick, who advised them they could do nothing with the contract already made but could make a new one and it was thought that Mr. Griebel and Mr. Hockmeyer might act on this advice. The board took an adjournment, however, until Wednesday and in the meantime will not take any steps. Mr. Griebel was asked what he intended to do and said he had nothing to say on the subject.

GETS CHANGE OF TITLE.

M. J. Kehoe Now Superintendent of Power for Wabash Valley Co.

M. J. Kehoe, for several years chief engineer of power plants for the Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley Traction company, has just now been given a new official designation, and will hereafter be known as the superintendent of power.

Owing to the fact that not all the machinery is yet in service at the new power station on Spy Run avenue, and that workmen are yet engaged in the work of installing it, the station is not open to the general public. It will be necessary for those who desire to visit the station to secure a pass enabling them to do so, and these passes are issued only at the general offices of the company or by the superintendent of power.

NOW ISSUING $5 NOTES.

First National Bank Puts Them in Circulation for First Time.

For the first time in its history, the First National bank of Fort Wayne is now issuing bank notes of the $5 denomination. No. 1 of the new series having been signed up today. Heretofore the bank has issued only the $10, $20 and $50 denominations of bank notes, but the demands for currency of smaller denomination induced the institution to put the $5 notes in circulation.

Two of the three tracks into the new interurban freight depot on Pearl street have been laid and the third one is rapidly nearing completion. Workmen were employed yesterday all day on the track and it is expected that the new depot will be put into use within a very short time.

The condition of F. E. Rihiet, who is critically ill at Hope hospital, remains practically unchanged.

TRAINMEN MUST ANSWER FOR HOLDING THE CROSSING

Police Tire of Warning the Crews and Wholesale Arrest Follows.

After repeated efforts on the part of the police to persuade trainmen on the Pennsylvania and Wabash railroads to get over Calhoun street crossing with as little delay as possible, an entire crew on one of the former's freight trains was lugged to police headquarters Sunday, and after begging to be allowed to take the run out, released on a promise that they will appear Tuesday morning.

The men are E. H. Ashton, engineer, 2807 Hanna street; C. E. Barker, conductor, 324 East DeWald street; J. O. Bennett, brakeman, 1027 Maumee avenue; J. F. Romary, brakeman, 1207 Liberty street.

Patrolmen Kelley and Heller made the arrests after allowing the train to block the street for seventeen minutes and left the outfit in charge of Fireman Charles Spillner and a brakeman, to comply with the law.

Chief of Police Ankenbruck has had a great number of complaints recently of the utter disregard of train crews for the convenience of the public and he set his officers to work timing the men at Calhoun street. He gave instructions to arrest trainmen who persisted in stopping the cars longer than might reasonably be necessary for the transaction of business, although the statutes do not contemplate that they shall stop any time without leaving an opening of sixty feet.

More arrests will be made if the law is violated again and some attention will be given the gatemen, who frequently cause much longer delays than is necessary. The action of the chief is highly commended and a number of southside citizens took occasion yesterday to congratulate him on the step toward relieving them of an outrage to which they have been subjected for years and which has been growing steadily worse.

them to persevere in their attitude in defense of the rights of the church.

May Result in Compromise.

Interviews with ecclesiastics as well as the tone of the clerical press indicate a fairly favorable reception of the government's bill amending the church and state separation law of 1905 introduced in the chamber of deputies December 15 and the prevalence of the belief that it will prove acceptable to the church, as it places the clergy under a real regime of the common law.

COMPANY ADMITS FACTS AND STANDS ON ITS CONTRACT

Arguments Will Be Made on Failure to Deliver Express Matter.

The case against the Pacific Express company, charged in the circuit court under an affidavit filed by George Clapsatt with failure to deliver a package within the city limits, was submitted to Judge O'Rourke in the circuit court today under an agreed statement of facts in which the company admits it did not make the delivery, but insists that it had no contract to do so.

One clause of the receipt and contract given shippers by the company provides that there shall be no free delivery outside of the limits specified in each city by the company and J. L. Munis, of St. Louis, who represents the company in the hearing, argued that this freed the company from any obligation to forward express matter to Mr. Clapsatt's store, which is located on South Broadway.

Prosecutor Dan B. Nide took the ground that the company and the shipper have no right to enter into any contract which is a direct violation of an Indiana statute and that it is not binding for this reason. The matter was to have come up before a circuit court jury today, but a trial was unnecessary.

Girl Goes to Prison.

Louise Rodenback was given a hearing in the juvenile court this morning and sentenced to an indeterminate period in the woman's prison at Indianapolis. She was arrested for loitering and the evidence brought out showed she had taken $40 belonging to her father and gone to Findlay and Van Wert, where she entered houses of ill fame. Detective Lenz brought her back from Findlay and no charge was made against her as she promised to reform.

Woman Gets Back.

Kate Certia, against whom surety of the peace proceedings were filed in Justice Huser's court last week by Frank Johns, got back today when she filed three affidavits against him charging him with selling liquor after 11 o'clock, selling liquor to minors and selling liquor on Sunday. He is a saloonkeeper at New Haven and the cases are filed in Justice Tahcey's court.

The national house wants more pay yet fears to raise it. No other way to get it, though, and to go that length means long chances with the home folks, who make congressmen.

Anarchy of the brand that has something to say for itself will rule in the northwest if the railroads don't contrive some way to either switch off the cold spell or get fuel to the people.

Paris has the real trouble of the church-and-state war on hand, but Rome is indulging in the rioting over it. Same everywhere, here as well. Generally your neighbor who takes your troubles most to heart and from heart to heart.

This week the president will do more or less of the thinking for congress. Five or six special messages besides the customary train of privately conveyed hints together are expected to do much for the edification of the national body of lawmakers and the good of the country in a large and extremely pertinent variety of ways.

Along with its efforts to abolish some of the abuses of the Calhoun street grade crossing at the Pennsylvania and Wabash railroads, we would like to see the city administration lend some sort of an effort to abolishing the crossing altogether. Doubtless it is true that carelessness and indifference are many times at fault for aggravation of what is necessarily a constant embarrassment and nuisance, but the situation itself is founded on conditions that only some permanent solution of the grade crossing question can remove.

The mother of Dr. William Osler has just celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of her birth. She is reported to be a remarkably hearty old lady. When she had reached sixty, the chloroform period, she had her distinguished son somewhere about the fog end of the knickerbocker age, just at just at the time when so far as the inventor of oslerization is concerned, her service to him and to his kind was most useful. And yet the doctor insists that at sixty the "old folks" are "only in the way." Glad Mother Osler is living to confound and confute the vagaries of her eminent offspring.

It is generally believed that the governor of New York has determined to commute to life imprisonment the sentence of death under which Lawyer Albert T. Patrick has been resting for several years. Patrick's fight for life has been one of the most remarkable incidents in the annals of American criminal jurisprudence. That the governor has resolved to spare this resourceful man's life strongly implies a doubt of his guilt of the murder for which he was convicted. The murder of the old Millionaire, Rice—if murder was actually the cause of his death—was deliberate, atrocious and without a single mitigating circumstance. If there were no doubt of Patrick's guilt to extend clemency to him would be to outrage justice. As it is, it must be the conclusion that a widespread scepticism of his guilt has a firm hold. Certain it is that such public sentiment as has had any manifestation has been to a remarkable degree sympathetic and active in his behalf. Scores of prominent lawyers and publicists have exerted themselves in his behalf, not because of any feeling of personal interest in him, but because the conviction of Patrick has rested upon such doubtful ground.

George D. Patton Succumbs to Paralysis—The Other Deaths and Funerals.

George D. Scenes in the Training of "Kid" Herman, Who is Soon to Do Battle With Joe Gans for the Championship.

"KID" NIGHTER AND MINE SUPERINTENDENT

HERMAN AND RYAN CLIMBING MT. ODDIE.

HERMAN AND HIS FRIENDS MOTORING IN THE SNOW

HERMAN EXERCISING WITH REMNANTS OF MACHINERY

Donah, Nev., Dec. 17.—They have handed "Kid" Herman only one package since he arrived in Tonopah, but it was an awful big package at that.

It happened a day or so after the "Kid" started in his training. Riley came to Herman and told him he wanted to have a private talk with him. Riley took the little fighter into his office and in the most earnest way spoke as follows:

"Herman, several wealthy friends of mine have come to me and expressed a great desire to see you win this battle. They have all kinds of money to bet on you, and they want to see you in the best condition possible. They were talking the matter over last night and decided that if you had another sparring partner to work out with it would be a greatly added benefit. Will you accept another man to box with daily at the expense of my friends?"

The "Kid" was tickled to death and told Riley that he would be glad to take on any one whom his friends would furnish. Riley said that he would call the new man in and introduce him to the "Kid."

While Herman sat patiently waiting the promoter went out on a still hunt for Deputy Sheriff "Shorty" Johnson, Tonopah's six foot two guardian of the peace. Riley led Johnson to the door of his office, where "Shorty" jackknifed himself down to about six feet in height and entered. Herman almost fell off his chair when Riley introduced "Shorty" as the new sparring partner.

"Holy smoke!" gasped Herman, "I know I can chop Joe Gans down to my size, but not this fellow. I decline your offer with thanks."

Johnson watches the "Kid" work out every day and says he believes the little Chicagoan could give him a run for his money in spite of the two foot difference in height.

Smart Frock for Formal Holiday Wear

A stunning princess-empire gown for a formal Christmas dinner may be made of black material and effectively trimmed with appliques so it will be appropriate for wear during the rest of the season. If fashioned from luxurious broadcloth that is so popular now, it will be strikingly pretty if decorated with black net, worked into a rose pattern carried out in narrow milliners' folds of black satin. Bands of appliques set between stitched stripes of cloth running from the empire waist line to the knees in front and graduating upward toward the back gives it a desirable finish. The collar employs the same strap ideas the skirt, with the appliques and puffs of plain set off by four large cabochons of cut jet in generous size. The neck is cut out in oval shape to the bust line and filled in with a chemise of shirred white net and Irish crochet lace, these same materials being used to form the rather long cuff of the tiny puff sleeve.

ROGERS BROTHERS "IN IRELAND."

Joseph DeWald, of Baker street, was host for a merry company of young people last evening at his home, in celebration of his eighteenth birthday. Pedro was the principal amusement and prize winners in the game were Miss Hazel Moore, Lawrence Sunderland, Miss Amelia Polry and Frank Gunkel. A supper was served after the game. Mr. DeWald was presented with a handsome gift. The guests included the Misses Nellie Jones, Kate Blanc, Marie Holzhauser, Fay Williams, Lawrence Sunderland, Romona Hurch, Ethel Reynolds and Messrs. Frank and Tony Bankert, Ed. Goeke, Edward Bott, Edward Niehter, Oscar Scheimann, Leslie Liable. A club was organized of which Miss Goldie Dougherty was made president and Joe DeWald secretary.

Mrs. J. B. Franke gave a beautiful little party yesterday afternoon for her daughter, Luella, who was six years old. Particularly pretty was the dining-room where the children went at 5 o'clock for a supper. They had been playing games for two hours and were both hungry and a wee bit tired. When they saw the lights, the flowers and the favors of trunks of candies and Japanese fans at each place they were eager to be seated, but when their eyes lighted on two birthday cakes, instead of one—well, there's no use trying to tell anyone how those little folks felt. You would have to be a little girl at just such a party to know. Anyway, there were two cakes. One had pink candles and pink roses on it and from the center of the other one rose a tiny Christmas tree. The guests were Mildred and Virginia Meyer, Delight Evans, Dorothy Fox, Catherine and Mary Irene Carroll, Katherine Lehman, Margaret Helne, Helen Hackins, Katherine Kampe, Phyllis Bales, Marguerite Pfeiffer, Edith Orrock, Ruth Helen Baum, Gertrude Karm, Hilda Uhlman, Helen Stophrer, Inez Hartzler, Clarissa Seemeyer, Ruth and Esther Hahn, Marie Miller, Margaret Gross and Vera and Myrtle Mann.

HOUSEKEEPERS' QUERIES ANSWERED.

(By Helen Howe.)
To Clean Chandeliers.

Try cleaning with vinegar and salt or oxalic acid and salt, rubbing vigorously. Then wash off this cleanser quickly, for if it is left on the metal will tarnish. Brighten with tripoli and sweet oil. If this is not satisfactory let me hear from you. For your question about anemia, look in the Margaret Mixer column under your initials.

To Remove Stains From Mattresses.

Put the mattress in the sun and apply a strong solution of ammonia, laundry soap and warm water to the spots. If the first rubbing with a stiff brush or harsh cloth does not take out the stains, then repeat the cleansing until the yellowness disappears.

To Keep Toothbrushes Clean.

After each using wash them out thoroughly with clear cold water, then rinse through a solution of 5 per cent. boric acid and hang in the air and sunshine with the bristles up, so the water will run down the handle and not stay around the bristles to make them soggy and to cause an unpleasant odor.

BAREHEADED BABIES.

That BEAUTY IS POWER

EVERY WOMAN KNOWS RIGHT WELL, AND THE GRACIOUS GIFT of a beautiful face is now within the reach of all, at very small cost. Just step into the Arcade Pharmacy and ask for the Sarah Beutifier. If you have never used it, Miss Julia Emanuel will tell you all about it and how to apply it. Try it yourself first and then remember your friends at Christmas time.

Babies have joined the hapless brigade—or, rather, like poor little Master Pardiglo, who was enrolled in the "Infant Bonds of Joy" at five years old, and pledged never in his life to use tobacco, they have been pushed into the brigade by their seniors. You will now, in almost every street of almost any town come upon perambulators containing bareheaded babies, babies pledged by their parents never Combination Pudding (original)—Take one banana, one orange, a little pineapple and a few chopped nuts. Let them stand an hour in sugar and one wine-glassful of sherry or Marschling. Pour over this slices of stale cake and surround with boiled custard. This is very pretty served in champagne glasses with Marschling sherry decoration.

WRESTLERS READY TO GO ON FOR BIG MATCH AT PRINCESS

Murbarger and Swanson Both Claim Victory in the Event.

Sam Murbarger and Alex Swanson, the top liners in the big wrestling program scheduled at the Princess rink tonight, both claim they will win and as they are in excellent shape and have high class reputations to sustain the big event will undoubtedly be one of the best ever offered to a Fort Wayne audience.

The two contestants know the game

SAM MURBARGER.

In all its details and are artists in their line and while Murbarger has the best of it in the matter of weight, the "Terrible Swede" thinks he can overcome that and his manager and manager are full of confidence. Sam Murbarger has worked here before and is known in Fort Wayne. During the winter he assumed the management of the bouts pulled off by the St. Joe Athletic club and has won a great number of friends.

"Chief" Long has been training under Harry Dial and the local man says he will give the Buffalo Kid a whirl in a boxing bout carded for the preliminary. These men are good enough to put on a curtain raiser that should prove attractive. Two local men will try for the city wrestling championship, which will be an interesting event of the evening.

Al Ackerman, of Lima, a wrestler with a reputation, will throw any man in the city in fifteen minutes or forfeit $25 and prefers Harry Dial. Several local men have intimated a desire to go on with him and a lively session is stored up for him. He will also challenge the winner of the big match. There has been a good advance sale for the match and interest in the sport is evidently having a revival, especially since Murbarger has identified himself with Fort Wayne and now claims this city as his home. He has been in the business a long time and promises the public a corking good match tonight.

SPORTING NOTES.

The official averages of the American association given out by President Ban B. Johnson show that Charles Sylvester Stahl, new manager of the Boston club, batted .284. He took part in every game played and of 535 times up made 170 hits for 218 bases, tallied sixty-two runs, stole thirteen bases and had seventeen sacrifices to his credit. George Nill, of the Washington club, was at bat 315 times, had seventy-four hits and an average of .232. He stole sixteen bases and had ten sacrifices.

The annual meeting of the St. Joe Athletic club will be held Tuesday evening for the election of officers next year and to hear the report of Secretary Eugene Doerflinger. The year has been a most successful one.

A meeting of the members of the Shamrock Base Ball team was held yesterday for the purpose of completing arrangements for the ball game January 21. The committee on reception is as follows:

"Chief" Stahl, Boston Americans; George Nill, Washington Americans; Bert Dennis and George Tenney, South Bend Central; Fred Stahl, Jack Smith, Louis Hunt, Emil Valenti, Fort Wayne Interstate; Paul La Rue, Wrentham State; "Chief" Harold, Fred Johnson, Three-Eye, Will Hillinger, Lima Interstate; F. Farman and A. Walda, Hillsdale, Mich.; Three Little Garses, Ellettsville, Ind.; Ossian News; John T. Doughty, Fort Wayne News; Charles Spaulding, Fort Wayne Sentinel; Milton Bolerjack and R. A. Crosby, Journal-Gazette, and the Fort Wayne Shamrocks.

The two teams met during the week and the Del Rio won two games. They got credit for only one victory, the Athletics were given two winning games, which is in line with the numerous discrepancies that have occurred during the season. FELL DOWN ELEVATOR SHAFT.

Little Albert Hanagan Badly Injured Sunday.

Sunday afternoon, while playing on the new Mossman-Yarnelle & Co.'s building, which is in the course of construction on Pearl street, Albert Hanagan, a newsboy, fell through an elevator shaft to a temporary elevator twelve feet below and sustained severe injuries. Dr. McOscar, who attended the boy, who was taken to the St. Joseph hospital, thinks there may be a fracture of the skull at the base of the brain, but the young man has been conscious all the time since the accident and is resting easily. If nothing untoward occurs the chances for his recovery are very good. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hanagan, of 107 Mechanic street.

ROMAN EXTREMISTS DECLARE FOR FRANCE

After the Sunday Rioting
About Vatican Ultra
Views are Voiced.

Rome, Dec. 17.—The extreme parties strongly protest against the repression of yesterday's popular demonstration here in sympathy with France and are organizing new manifestations. The leaders urge their adherents in the meanwhile to leave their cards at the French embassy, where they are piling up by the thousands. The demonstrations yesterday centered in the vicinity of the vatican and the disorder became so violent and manifested such a spirit of extreme hostility and aggressiveness that a cordon of soldiers was drawn around the vatican and there maintained throughout the day and night.

So intense is the popular feeling in Rome against the vatican in connection with the crisis in France that serious disorders were expected to result from an anti-clerical demonstration arranged for yesterday afternoon. The whole police force and the entire military garrison was placed under arms. The demonstration was to have taken place at 4 o'clock outside the Farnese palace, the seat of the French embassy. Hours before that time police and soldiers took possession of the neighboring streets.

Cavalry All Around Vatican.
The vatican was surrounded by cavalry, the horses being unharnessed to enable the troops, if necessary, to charge over the cobble stones. The streets and bridges leading to the vatican were occupied by the troops, and all traffic was stopped. A strong force of troops was stationed in the Plaza Farnese, where the French embassy is located.

Large crowds, composed mostly of students, loafers, and the dregs of the city, gathered early in the afternoon. They at first tried to reach the vatican, but found everywhere a line of bayonets opposing them. Several rushes occurred and there were shouts of "Death to the priests," "Down with the pope," and "Long live France." The soldiers stood their ground firmly, and none of the crowd passed them. Some of the more demonstrative were arrested. Then the mob tried to reach the embassy, but troops cordoned the streets leading to the Plaza Farnese and prevented them. Several charges were made and the crowd was not allowed to gather strength.

Mob Grows Daring at Night.
Thousands of demonstrators friendly to France and of anti-vatican tendencies gathered again last night in the plaza adjoining the Farnese palace in an endeavor to express their pleasure at France's action toward the church.

The demonstrators, led by a dozen radical socialists and republican members of the chamber of deputies, including Prince Borghese, after vainly attempting to break the cordon, provided themselves with candles and formed into a mock procession, intoning the Miserere as an indication of the death of clericalism, amidst cries of "Long live France!" "Long live Clemenceau!" and "Down with the vatican!"

Deputies Costa and De Felice tried to harrange the people, but the police interfered.

The demonstration occurred near the monument to Giordano Bruno, the monk philosopher, who was burned alive, a victim of religious intolerance. Deputy Costa finally made himself heard. He said: "Before this monument to Bruno, of free thought, let us send out applause to France for this great people continuing the traditional struggle against the moth-eaten clericalism."

Cavalry Charges on Crowd.
Fresh attempts then were made to beat back the cordon. The cavalry charged the demonstrators, a few of whom were slightly injured and several arrested. Amid roars and shouts and the singing of the "Marseillaise" the ferment continued until late in the evening.

At a late hour last night the city continued to have the appearance of being in a state of siege. Armed soldiers with fixed bayonets protected the vatican, the parliament buildings, and the embassies, as well as hold the streets and squares, while numbers of others were held ready in houses and courtyards for use in case of emergency.

The commander of the papal gendarmes, called on Cardinal Merry del Val yesterday morning and asked for orders. The cardinal replied that he was to take no precautions. He was to leave the doors of St. Peter's open, as the government would keep order.

Government to Protect Pope.
A commission of the demonstrators was received by M. Barrere, the French ambassador, who expressed his appreciation for the sympathy of the Roman people.

The government endeavored by all means to prevent the demonstration. The stand that the government is taking is that, although Italy is friendly to France, she does not wish to take sides in the dispute, especially when her relations with the church are better now than they have been since 1870.

The demonstration and the presence of troops outside caused a good deal of excitement in the vatican, but the pope remained calm throughout. Early in the day another official statement was issued from the offices of the papal secretary.

This statement reiterates one previously issued declaring that the object of the search of the archives in the nunciature at Paris after the expulsion of Mgr. Montagnini was to diffuse false news in order to make the public believe that the papers taken were "low insinuations of a money bargain for the appointment of bishops, gambling on the stock exchange, etc."

The communication repeats the vatican's original denunciation of the tactics employed in securing the papers, and especially denounces what it terms efforts to make appear as due to the negotiations of the vatican or of Mgr. Montagnini some of the letters, which, it says, really may have been received and kept as documents, but which no honest man could take as a basis for facts that did not exist. Such letters, it is declared, may even have been sent on purpose to Mgr. Montagnini in order to have a dossier ready when the search was made.

With regard to the statement published in the National Zeitung of Berlin, attributing to hitherto unpublished portions of the memoirs of Prince Hohenzollern the declaration that Pope Leo XIII. asked Emperor William for a gift of $100,000, the communication declares it to be absurd and to be connected with the German electoral campaign and the anti-vatican campaign.

FAVORS FOR CHRISTMAS DINNERS

ST. NICK IN BALLOON

KRIS KINGLE ON SKATES

Favors for Christmas dinners are always typical of the day and appropriately made to represent some familiar symbol indicative of the celebration, but it is seldom that such quaint boxes are made for hophons and ices as are shown in the shops now. There is one box with a Santa Claus climbing to the north pole that is remarkably effective. The box for ices is round and has a lid made in imitation of a snow mound. It is fashioned of white crepe paper with glittering crystals, that look like newly fallen snow. In the center of this mound there is a frosted white pole, at the top of which a jolly looking St. Nick, in a red suit with a red hat edged with fur, has climbed to fasten on a white pennant with the words, "Merry Xmas" in gold. At the foot of the pole is a Polar bear made of white cotton.

As attractive, if not so unusual as the north pole box, is a favor in which Kris Kingle is taking a sail in a balloon that is bearing a flag of the Aero club. The lid of the box that makes the car in which Santa stands is square and of wicker, and is connected with crystal ropes to the inflated white bag above, that is frosted so it sparkles in the light. Santa, with his arms full of toys, is laughing as if enjoying the flight.

A favor box that will please grown-ups as well as children shows Saint Nicholas as a juggler. He is lying flat on the lid of an oblong box that is covered with imitation snow, and on his feet is balancing a huge cotton ball that looks as if it were made of snow. Santa tobogganing is another effective box for either confectionery, ices or salads, for it is quite large. It is made like a hill on which Kris Kingle slides. This steep incline is of white crepe paper covered with frosting, and is so graduated that St. Nick's ride is apparently a quick one. The toboggan on which he sits is correct in every detail, and is white like the hill on which it rests. Holding two white cords to guide the sled Kris Kingle, in a real sportsmanlike attitude, looks intently ahead, as if bent on making as quick a trip as is possible. On his back is a pack of toys.

An odd favor box is made to look like the top of a red brick chimney, and on this Santa Claus is riding on a see-saw, with a large ball of snow on the other end to make the balance.

St. Nicholas in an automobile as the driver makes another pretty box. The wheels of the machine are large, round balls of snow, apparently fastened on with bits of holly berries and the deep green leaves. These wheels are of cotton covered with a frosting that makes them brilliant in either the sunlight or when artificial light is turned on.

OVERCOATS FOR LITTLE BOYS.

We have an immense line of jaunty little overcoats for the little fellows, 2 to 9 years of age. All are sold at almost actual cost during our great sale. Prices, $1.80 to $13.50.

THE PATTERSON STORE.

If there be any good in thee, believe that there is much more in others— that so thou mayest preserve humility within thee.—Home Notes.

Color schemes in dress are much in evidence, and even kid footgear is dyed to match the frocks, while colored veils to correspond are worn. Some of the picturesquely veils are of spotted chiffon, others are of lace run through with chenille of the most marvelous colors. These are very effective, but should be worn with care and discretion.—Woman's Life.

The Patterson store will sell an all wool knee pant suit for $2.70 during their great sale that began Saturday.

It takes ten pounds of common sense to carry one pound of learning.—Persian proverb.

SANTA AT NORTH POLE

LOOK FOR THE GENUINE AURENTZ CANDIES

It has been learned that some people who have come into possession of boxes that once contained A. C. Aurentz's candies have been using such boxes to fill with inferior candies for Christmas giving. This is an injustice to Mr. Aurentz, who manufactures the purest candies that are possible to make and whose guarantee goes with his goods every time.

Persons who receive presents of Aurentz's candies from their friends will know that they are genuine if the box is enclosed in a red wrapper and sealed with a gold seal. This is the manner in which all of Aurentz's candies are put up, and another way to tell the real goods is by the name of "Aurentz," which appears on every chocolate.

$22.50

Will buy as fine a suit of clothes during our great sale as you can have made for $45. Mr. Good Dresser, this should be of interest to you.

THE PATTERSON STORE.

As we take up any duty and go forward with it, we shall receive the strength we need to do it.—Woman's Life.

This Week Christmas Shopping Will Be at High Tide

THE time to gather 'round the Christmas tree isn't far away and how many gifts and remembrances are yet to be selected? When the time narrows down to but seven buying days—when we count even the hours before every gift must be chosen, tied up and tucked away—it means some great hurrying and bustling during this last week.

And here is where you'll enjoy your Christmas shopping most. There never was such a Holiday store before; it is fairly running over with beautiful gifts, low priced. Every possible thing one would expect to find in a store like this is here in profusion and at prices that were never so attractive. Bring in your holiday list and be assured you will find just what you want and the "Christmas fund" will be most economically spent.

To aid in solving the puzzling question that besets many minds—"what shall I give," we submit a list of classified suggestions, with the lowest and highest prices on each article—although there are many prices between.

To accommodate those who cannot do their shopping during the day we will keep our store open every evening until Christmas.

then an experiment will be a failure; and among those who hear of it, a certain proportion of doubting Thomases will be at once believe that the whole work is a failure. Doubtless here and there some casual success will be achieved; but as to this, I have to say that after the most painstaking inquiry I have been unable to find a single respectable person who had as much as heard of any serious accusations affecting the honesty of the commission or of any responsible officer under it. I append a letter dealing with the most serious charge, that of the ownership of lots in Cuba; the charge was not advanced by a reputable man, and is utterly baseless. It is not too much to say that the whole atmosphere of the commission breathes honesty as it breathes efficiency and energy. Above all, the work has been kept absolutely clear of politics. I have never heard even a suggestion of spoils politics in connection with it.

I have investigated every complaint brought to me for which there seemed to be any shadow of foundation. In two or three cases, all of which I have indicated in the course of this message, I came to the conclusion that there was foundation for the complaint, and that the method of the commission in the respect complained of could be bettered. In the other instances the complaints proved to be utterly baseless, save in two or three instances where they referred to mistakes which the commission had already itself found out and corrected.

So much for honest criticism. There remains an immense amount of as reckless slanders as has ever been published. When the slanders are of foreign origin I have no concern with them. When they are American, I feel for them the keenest contempt and indignation; because, in a spirit of wanton dishonesty and malice, they are trying to interfere with, and hamper the execution of the greatest work of the kind ever attempted, and are seeking to bring to naught the efforts of the countrymen of the great men of America one of the giant feats of the ages. The outrageous accusations of these slanders constitute a gross libel upon the honesty and integrity of the commission, and upon the character and devotion to duty, have never been exceeded anywhere. I am not a man among these directing the work on the isthmus who has obtained his position on any other basis than merit and ability, and not one who has used his position in any way for his own personal or pecuniary advantage.

After most careful consideration we have decided to let out most of the work by contract, and to let the balance be done by the commission. The whole work is of a kind suited to the character of our people; and our people have developed the type of contractor best fitted to grapple with it. It is of course much better to do the work in large part by contract than to do it all by the government, provided it is possible on the one hand to secure the best of the service, and on the other to make it worth while for responsible contractors of the best kind to undertake the work; and provided on the other hand it can be done on terms which will not give an excessive profit to the contractor at the expense of the government. After much consideration the plan already promulgated by the secretary of war was adopted. This plan in its essential features was drafted after careful and thorough study and consideration, by the chief engineer, Mr. Stevens, who, while in the employment of Mr. Hill, the president of the Great Northern railroad, had personal experience of this very type of contract. Mr. Stevens then submitted the plan to the chairman of the commission, Mr. Shonts, who went carefully over it with Mr. Rogers, the legal adviser of the commission, to see that all legal difficulties were met. He then submitted copies of the plan to both Secretary Taft and myself. Secretary Taft submitted it to some of the best counsel at the New York bar, and afterwards I went over it very carefully with Mr. Taft and Mr. Shonts, and we held the plan in its general features before Mr. Root. My conclusion is that it combines the maximum of advantage with the minimum of disadvantage. Under it a premium will be put upon the speedy and economical construction of the canal, and a penalty imposed on delay and waste. The plan as promulgated is tentative; doubtless it will have to be changed in some respects before we can come to a satisfactory agreement with responsible contractors—perhaps even after the bids have been received; and of course it is possible that we can not come to an agreement. In which case the whole work will be the work itself. Meanwhile the work on the isthmus is progressing steadily without any let-up.

A seven-headed commission is of course a clumsy executive instrument. We should have but one commissioner, with such heads of departments and other officers under him as we may find necessary.

We should be expressly permitted to employ the best engineers in the country as consulting engineers. I am accompanying this paper with a map showing substantially what the canal will be like when it is finished. When the Culbreth cut has been made and the dams built off they are built at present proposed there will then be at both the Pacific and Atlantic ends of the canal, two great fresh water lakes, connected by a broad channel running to the bottom of a ravine, across the backbone of the western hemisphere. Those best informed believe that the work will be completed in about eight years; but it is never safe to prophesy about such work as this, especially in the tropics.

I am informed that representatives of the commercial clubs of four cities—Boston, Chicago, Cincinnati and St. Louis—the membership of which includes most of the leading business men of those cities, expect to visit the isthmus for the purpose of examining the work of construction of the canal. I am glad to hear it, and I shall direct that every facility be given them to see all that is to be seen in the work which the government is doing. Such interest as a visit like this would indicate would be a good effect upon the men who are doing the work, on one hand, while on the other hand it will offer as witnesses of the exact conditions men whose experience as business men and whose impartiality will make the result of their observations of value to the country as a whole. Of the success of the enterprise I am as well convinced as one can be of any enterprise that is humanly possible. It is a stupendous work upon which our fellow-countrymen are engaged down there on the isthmus, and while we should hold them to a strict accountability for the way in which they perform it, we should yet recognize, with frank generosity, the epic nature of the task on which they are engaged and its world-wide importance. They are doing something which will redound immeasurably to the credit of America, which will benefit all the world, and which will last for ages to come. Under Mr. Shonts and Mr. Stevens and Doctor Gorgas this work has started with every omen of good fortune. They and their worthy associates, from the highest to the lowest, are entitled to the same credit that we would give to the picked men of a victorious army; for this conquest of peace will, in its great and far-reaching effect, stand as among the very greatest conquests, whether of peace or of war, which have ever been won by any of the peoples of mankind. A badge is to be given to every American citizen who for a specified time has taken part in this work; for participation in it will hereafter be held to reflect honor upon the man participating just as it reflects honor upon a soldier to have belonged to a mighty army in a great war for righteousness. Our fellow-countrymen on the isthmus are taking for our interest and for the national renown in the same spirit and with the same efficiency that the men of the army and navy work in time of war. It behooves us here to do all we can to hold up their hands and to aid them in every way to bring their great work to a triumphant conclusion.

DRUM IS A FAMOUS RELIC.

Loaned by C. B. Lasselle, of Logansport to Fort Wayne Society.

(Logansport Pharos.)

The Mary Penrose Chapter of the Daughters of the Revolution at Fort Wayne has begun an interesting work in promoting a study of the early history of Allen county and Fort Wayne and is making a collection of historic relics. Among them now on display in the relic room of the Fort Wayne court house is the old drum loaned to the society by Charles B. Lasselle, of this city. This drum is now minute in its sheepskin, but its wooden cylinder is in good condition. The first regiment marched to its stirring beats in to the battle of Fallen Timbers, where hung the destiny that was to make this region American or Indian until the British or French could seize it. The God of battles made it American. The regiment marched to its time on to the meeting waters of the St. Joseph and St. Mary's rivers, which, when merged, formed the Maumee and where a stockade was built in 1794 and named Fort Wayne to the salute of thirteen guns.

Because we give as good a terms as the next man, no matter what they are.

These are facts which you should think over in your own mind, and there can be but one conclusion, the Jacobs' Music House is the place to buy your Piano.

ON PUBLIC LANDS

effect is to turn over the public timber lands to great corporations. It has done enormous harm. It is no longer needed, and it should be repealed.

The desert land act results so frequently in fraud and so comparatively seldom in making homes on the land that it demands radical amendment. That provision which permits assignment before patent should be repealed and the entryman should be required to live for not less than two years at home on the land before patent issues. Otherwise the desert land law will continue to assist speculators and other large holders to get control of land and water on the public domain by indefensible means.

The commutation clause of the homestead act serves, in a majority of cases, to defeat the purpose of the homestead act itself, which is to facilitate settlement and create homes. In theory the commutation clause should assist the honest settler, and doubtless in some cases it does so. Far more often, it supplies the means by which speculators and loan and mortgage companies secure possession of the land. Actual—not constructive—living at home on the land for three years should be required before commutation, unless it should appear wiser to repeal the commutation clause altogether.

President Gravelly Concerned.

I am gravely concerned at the extremely unsatisfactory condition of the public land laws and at the prevalence of fraud under their present provisions. For much of this fraud the present laws are chiefly responsible. There is but one way by which the fraudulent acquisition of these lands can be definitely stopped, and therefore I have directed the secretary of the interior to allow no patent to be issued to public lands under any law until by an examination on the ground actual compliance with that law has been found to exist. For this purpose an increase of special agents in the general land office is urgently required; unless it is given, bona fide would-be settlers will be put to grave inconvenience, or else the fraud will in large part go on. Further, the secretary of the interior should be enabled to employ enough mining experts to examine the validity of all mineral land claims, and to undertake the supervision of and control of the use of the mineral fuels still belonging to the United States. The present coal law limiting the individual entry to 10 acres puts a premium on fraud by making it impossible to develop certain types of coal fields and yet comply with the law. It is a scandal to maintain laws which sound well, but which rate fraud the key without which great natural resources must remain closed. The law should give individuals and corporations under proper government regulation and control (the details of which I shall not at present discuss) the right to work bodies of coal land large enough for profitable development. My own belief is that there should be provision for leasing coal, oil and gas rights under proper restrictions. If the additional force of special agents and mining experts I recommend is provided and well used, the result will be not only to stop the land frauds, but to prevent delays in patenting land claims, and to conserve the indispensable fuel resources of the nation.

Rights of Way and Privileges.

Many of the existing laws affecting rights of way and privileges on public lands and reservations are illogical and unfair. Some work injustice by granting valuable rights in perpetuity without return. Others fail to protect the grantee in his possession of permanent improvements made at large expense. In fairness to the government, to the holders of rights and privileges on the public lands, and to the people whom the latter serve, I urge the revision and re-enactment of these laws in one comprehensive act, providing that the regulations and the charge now in force in many cases may be extended to all, to the end that unregulated or monopolistic control of great natural resources may not be acquired or misused for private ends.

Private Holdings Within National Forests.

The boundaries of the national forest reserves unavoidably include certain valuable timber lands not owned by the government. Important among them are the land grants of various railroads. For more than two years negotiations with the land grant railroads have been in progress, looking toward an arrangement by which the forest on railroad lands within national forest reserves may be preserved by the removal of the present crop of timber under rules prescribed by the forest service, and its perpetuation may be assured by the transfer of the land to the government without cost. The advantage of such an arrangement to the government lies in the acquisition of lands whose protection is necessary to the general welfare. The advantage to the railroads is found in the proposal to allow them to consolidate their holdings of timber within forest reserves by exchange, after deeding their lands to the government, and thus to cut within a limited time solid bodies of timber instead of alternate sections, although the amount of timber in each case would be the same. It is possible that legislation will be required to authorize this or a similar arrangement with the railroads and other owners. If so, I recommend that it be enacted.

Working Capital for the National Forests.

The money value of the national forests now reserved for the use and benefit of the people exceeds considerably the sum of one thousand millions of dollars. The stumpage value of the standing timber approaches seven hundred million dollars, and together with the range and timber lands, the water for irrigation and power, and the subsidiary values, reaches an amount equal to that of the national property now under the immediate control of the army and navy together. But this vast domain is withheld from serving the nation as freely and fully as it might by the lack of capital to develop it. The yearly running expenses are sufficiently met by the annual appropriation and the proceeds of the forests. Under the care of the forest service the latter are increasing at the rate of more than half a million dollars a year; the estimate of appropriation for the present year is less than for last year; and it is confidently expected that by 1910 the forest service will be entirely self-supporting. In the meantime there is the most urgent need for trails, fences, cabins for the rangers, bridges, telephone lines and the other items of equipment without which reserves cannot be handled to advantage, cannot be protected properly, and cannot contribute as they should to the general welfare. Expenditures for such permanent improvements are properly chargeable to capital account. The lack of reasonable working equipment weakens the protection of the national forests and greatly limits their production. This want cannot be supplied from the appropriation for running expenses. The need is urgent. Accordingly, I recommend that the secretary of the treasury be authorized to advance to the forest service, upon the security of the standing timber, an amount, say $5,000,000, sufficient to provide a reasonable working capital for the national forests, to bear interest and to be repaid in annual installments beginning in ten years.

Transfer of the National Parks.

The national parks of the west are forested and they lie without exception within or adjacent to national forest reserves. Two years ago the latter were transferred to the care of the secretary of agriculture, with the most satisfactory results. The same reasons which led to this transfer make advisable a similar transfer of the national parks, now in charge of the secretary of the interior, and I recommend legislation to that end.

Within or adjoining national forests are considerable areas of Indian lands of more value under forest than for any other purpose. It would aid greatly in putting these lands to their best use if the power to create national forests by proclamation were extended to cover them. The Indians should be paid the full value of any land thus taken for such purposes, from the proceeds of the lands themselves, but such land should revert to the Indians if it is excluded from national forest use before full payment has been made.

Government Control of Grazing.

The control of grazing in the national forests is an assured success. The condition of the range is improving rapidly, water is being developed, much feed formerly wasted is now saved and used, range controversies are settled, opposition to the grazing fee is practically at an end, and the stockmen are earnestly supporting the forest service and co-operating with it effectively for the improvement of the range.

The situation on the open government range is strikingly different. Its grazing capacity has probably been reduced one-half by overgrazing, and is still falling. Range controversies in many places are active and bitter, and life and property are often in danger. The interests both of the livestock industry and of the government are needlessly impaired. The present situation is indefensible from any point of view, and it should be ended.

I recommend that a bill be enacted which will provide for government control of the public range through the department of agriculture, which alone is equipped for that work. Such a bill should insure to each locality rules for grazing specially adapted to its needs and should authorize the collection of a reasonable grazing fee. Above all, the rights of the settler and homemaker should be absolutely guaranteed.

Much of the public land can only be used for grazing purposes when fenced. Much fencing has been done for that reason, and also to prevent other stock owners from using land to which they have an equal right under the law. Reasonable fencing, which promotes the use of the range and yet interferes neither with settlement nor with other range rights, would be thoroughly desirable if it were legal, yet the law forbids it, and the law must and will be enforced. I will see to it that the illegal fences are removed unless congress, at the present session, takes steps to legalize proper fencing by government control of the range.

FOR GOOD OF THE NAVY.

President Urges Changes in Laws of the Personnel.

Washington, Dec. 17.—President Roosevelt today transmitted to congress a message urging radical changes in the law of the navy personnel. In his message the president says:

"In my last three annual messages I have invited the attention of the congress to the urgent necessity of such legislation as will cause officers of the line of the navy to reach the grades of captain and rear admiral at less advanced ages and will give them more experience and training in the important duties of those grades. Under the present archaic system of promotion, without parallel in the navy or any other first class power, captains are commissioned at the average age of fifty-six and rear admirals at the average age of sixty. This system is the result of a long continued prejudice in favor of a method of promotion by which all lieutenants in order of seniority pass through the several grades until they eventually become rear admirals; a method which sacrifices the good of the service to the interest of individual mediocrity. As a direct consequence of the existing method naval officers obtain more than ample service in subordinate positions, but have a limited and inadequate experience as captains in command of battle ships and as flag officers in charge of fleets and squadrons; that is, in the very positions of greatest responsibility, where experience, skill and initiative are essential to efficiency. Moreover, they attain the position of flag officer but a few months before they reach the retiring age and have no opportunity to perfect themselves in the important duties of the high commands pertaining to such rank."

The president presents a table showing the average age of naval captains in the navies of the five great naval powers, the officers of that rank ranging from 35 years in the British navy to 55 years in the United States navy. The same table shows the flag officers of the same navies range in age from 45 years in the British navy to 59 years in the United States navy. Also it is shown that the average years in each grade range from 11.2 years in the British navy to 4.5 years in the United States navy in the case of captains and from 8 years in the British navy to 1.5 years in the United States navy in the case of flag officers.

The president says "the facts shown in the table are startling and earnest attention is invited to them." A bill designed to remedy the defects of the present law and custom of seniority and promotion accompanies the message.

In conclusion the president says: "I am firmly of the opinion that unless the present condition of the higher commissioned personnel is rectified by judicious legislation, the future of our navy will be greatly compromised."

SNYDER WORKED HIS GRAFT.

Secured Small Sums of Money From Several Business Men.

The police have been asked to look for a man who gave the name of P. F. Snyder and representing himself as agent for the Canadian Starch company and who succeeded in securing several small sums of money. He rented a room in the Seidel block and furnished it from Fox, Hite & Co.'s store and offered a check in payment. Mr. Hite would not cash it but loaned the fellow $2. He took out insurance policies on the furniture and borrowed $10 from Mr. V. Spencer and $5 from K. J. Bauer in the same way. Mr. Hite telegraphed a bank at Montreal about the man and delay in answering prevented an arrest as the man skipped before he could be apprehended by Detective George Soliday who was working on the case. The furniture was all recovered.

A Queer Exchange Of Apologies

THE night Mr. and Mrs. Elton held their reception at the Tuside club Mr. Elton, whose eyesight is very poor, bowed politely to every one he saw, including the waiters. Mrs. Elton remonstrated with him for this, and so the remainder of the evening he was more careful in distributing recognitions. But the following unfortunate accident occurred nevertheless:

At 9:30 Mrs. Elton came to him with a wild look in her eye and delivered herself of the alarming news that the silverware they had brought to be used for buffet lunch was in a box downstairs in the cloakroom. Would he hurry down to get it and come up the back way?

Mr. Elton turned to a man at his elbow. "Follow me," he said.

In a moment the box was opened and Mr. Elton fished out an armful of spoons. "Take these," he said, thrusting them at the man. "Fill your pockets as fast as you can. Somebody might come and catch us. I wouldn't have this known for the world. Here's another handful. Tie it up in your napkin."

"Napkin!" exclaimed the man. "Do you suppose I brought a napkin to this reception?"

"Oh, my dear sir," cried Mr. Elton, realizing his error, "I beseech you to pardon me—I entreat you to forgive me—why—I took you for a waiter." "That's all right," responded the guest, with a deprecatory gesture. "Don't give the matter another thought. I took you for a thief!"—Lippincott's Magazine.

This Time the Waiter Tipped.
William C. Whitney, Jr., who has spent a year in Indian Territory learning practical mulling at Quapaw, described at a dinner party in New York a Quapaw restaurant.

"One evening at this restaurant," he said, "two miners near me got into a botanical argument about the pineapple, one claiming that it was a fruit and the other that it was a vegetable. In the midst of their argument the waiter entered in his shirt sleeves and looked about to see what was the cause of the loud talking."

"The miners decided to let the waiter settle their argument, and accordingly one of them said:

"Pete, what is a pineapple? Is it a fruit or a vegetable?"

"The waiter, flicking the ash from his cigar, smiled at the two men with pity."

"Neither, gents," he said; "it's an extra."—Boston Herald.

Thorough, but Not Pedantic.

[Overheard at the Louvre.]
American Tourist (anxiously)—Say, guide, haven't we seen this room before?

Guide—Oh, no, monsieur.
Tourist—Well, see here. We want to see everything, but we don't want to see anything twice!—Punch.

A Slight Mistake.
"Do you call the product of your pen literature?"

"You seem to have made a mistake. I don't believe I have the honor of your acquaintance."

"Oh, aren't you Scribblington, the writer?"

"No, sir; I am Packingham, the packer, and you will find the name of the product of my pen plainly printed on the cans."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Happier Nevertheless.

"Yes," replied the shade, "I am far, far happier than when I was on earth with you."

The widow was silent for a moment; then she said:

"Tell me, James, what is it like in heaven?"

"Heaven?" said James. "I am not in heaven!"—Young's Magazine.

All Indorsed.

Tom—So she refused your suit?

Dick (sadly)—She did.

Tom—I wonder what kind of suit would attract her?

Dick—Oh, one with plenty of big beads. —Chicago News.

Dictionary Girls.

The liveliest girl I ever met

Was charming Annie Matton;

Exceeding sweet was Carry Mel;

Helpful Amelia Matton.

Nicer than Jenny Rosly

It would be hard to find;

Lovely was Rhoda Dendron, too,

One of the flower kind.

I did not fancy Polly Gonn;

Too angular was she,

And I could never take at all

To Annie Mosity.

I rather liked Miss Sarah Nade;

Her voice was full of charm.

Hostess I was too nervous was;

She fitted me with alarm.

E. Lucy Date was clear of face,

Her skin was like a shell;

Miss Ella Gant was rather nice,

Though she was awful swell.

A clinging girl was Jessie Mine.

I asked her me to marry.

In vain. Now life is full of fights,

For I'm joined to Millie Tary.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Dec. 17.—Wheat today opened firm although trading was very light. The receipts in the northwest were much smaller than expected and the world's shipments for last week were also under previous estimates. In addition to these bullish factors it was reported that Russian wheat crop was better than had been previously announced. May opened 4 1/4 to 4 3/4 higher at 74 1/4 to 75 1/4. The close was 4 1/4 to 4 3/4 higher at 74 1/4 to 75 1/4. The corn market was barely steady. Local receipts were somewhat larger than had been expected and the weather in the northwest was considered favorable for the movement of the new crop. May opened unchanged at 34 1/4 to 35 1/4. The close was 34 1/4 to 35 1/4. The oats market was easier because of the selling by cash house. May opened unchanged to a shade lower at 23 1/4 to 24 1/4. The close was 23 1/4 to 24 1/4. There were forty men in the cutter and all were thrown into the water. Owing to a heavy fog the boats in the vicinity had difficulty in rescuing thirty-one of the sailors. Many of the latter were unconscious when picked up.

You'll think of Christmas every time you look in our window.

Day's Happenings in the Industrial World

JACK HOULIHAN PROMOTED.

Becomes General Round House Foreman at Moberly.

Master Mechanic G. W. Smith, of the Wabash, announced the following changes this morning: J. J. Houlihan has been transferred from the general foremanship of the Montpelier round house to a similar position at Moberly, Mo., on the western division. N. J. Murphy has been appointed foreman of one of the gangs in the erecting department of the shops in this city, succeeding Mr. Heinlin, who was transferred to the Peru round house in the capacity of foreman last week. Both of these changes are in line of promotion. Mr. Houlihan is one of the best known mechanics in this part of the country, having worked a number of years in the Pennsylvania shops and later in the Wabash shops. Before going to Montpelier he was a gang foreman in the erecting shop in this city. Master Mechanic Smith has not yet decided upon a successor to Mr. Houlihan. Mr. Murphy is also a well known and first class mechanic having worked for the Wabash about fifteen years, included in his services being a short term as foreman at Peru. Before going to the Wabash he was employed at the Fort Wayne Electric works.

BASS GOT THE CONTRACT.

Will Equip the Addition to the Bluffton Power Station.

George T. Ladd, traveling salesman for the Bass Foundry and Machine company, was successful in securing a nice contract at Bluffton for the company last Friday night. Concerning the deal the Bluffton News says: "The city council last night let the contract for furnishing the electric light plant with three new boilers to the Bass Foundry and Machine Co., of Fort Wayne, for $4,350. There were only two bidders, the Bass and the Chandler and Taylor Co., and their bids were only fifty dollars apart and ten dollars apart after two hours had been spent getting both contestants to bid on exactly the same specifications.

"The boilers are to be 150 horse power, each carry 120 pounds of steam, to be equipped with front and everything complete to the steam line a ninety foot stack sixty inches in diameter and everything complete except the setting. The price is delivered at Bluffton. The city must pay for the foundations and for enlarging the boiler room. In all the cost will run over $5,000. Delivery is to be made in seventy-five days.

"Each representative was allowed to make his 'spiel' and this he did in the absence of the other. Then they were called in and informed that they were only $50 apart and were asked to bid on the same specifications. This required an hour's time and the Bass bid was finally accepted. The only difference was that this firm offered a steel front entirely covering the front end of the boiler and the Indianapolis concern offered a cast front."

BUILDING NEARLY COMPLETED.

Electric Works Preparing to Move Its Carpenter Shop.

The large two-story brick building at the rear of the main factory building of the Fort Wayne Electric works, designed for carpenter and pattern shops, is very near completion and a part of the machinery will be moved into it in a day or two. It is expected to have the entire building occupied and the two departments in it in operation by January 1. Then the rooms in the old building vacated by the carpenters and patternmakers will be fitted up for other purposes.

Robert Orff, of the production department of the Fort Wayne Electric works, will go to South Bend the latter part of the week to spend Christmas with his mother, who resides in that city.

Ed. Herrington, a stationary engineer, has taken a position at the Wabash shops. W. Bos took a position at the round house as a laborer.

Roy Likens, a machinist's helper, who had a hand hurt at the Wabash shops a few days ago, has recovered and this morning resumed work.

Yardmaster Dennis Hayes resumed charge of affairs at the Wabash yards this morning, relieving W. E. Rowe, who resumed a conductorship. Mr. Hayes was sick about a week.

A telegraphic message this morning brought news of the death of a nephew to Dayton M. DeBurns, stationary engineer at the Wabash shops, and he left at noon for Bradford Junction, O., the home of the deceased, to attend the funeral.

ORDERS FOR CONCENTRATORS.

Diester Company Gets More Business from the Copper Regions.

This morning the Diester Concentrator company received another order for concentrators from the Baltic Mining company, Redridge, Mich., making a total of fifty-one machines that have been ordered by that company from the Diester people, indicating that the Baltic company recognizes the excellence of these concentrators and prefers them to others. The Baltic Mining company is owned by the Copper Range Consolidated company, one of the largest mining concerns of the country. The Diester company hope to get a new factory home in two months. Contractor Berkensten this morning set a large force at work on the foundry.

datation for the new building on High street, which will be occupied when completed by the concentrator works.

RAN INTO THE FLYER.

Edward Ormiston Drives Against Train and Horse is Killed.

Edward Ormiston sustained some slight contusions on his head and bruises on the left side and the horse he was driving was so badly hurt that it was necessary to shoot it, by running into the Pennsylvania Special, the eighteen hour flyer, last evening. Ormiston was driving north on Fairfield avenue at a rapid rate, the animal having been frightened by an engine at the Wabash crossing, and it appears that he did not notice that the Pennsylvania gates were down and the flyer approaching. The horse crashed through the gate and struck the second car of the train and was hurled aside. Ormiston was thrown out of the buggy, arose to his feet and with a cry of pain, sank to the ground. The ambulance was called and Ormiston was taken to the Lutheran hospital, where it was discovered that his injuries were only slight, though he had been dazed by the fall. The horse had a leg broken and received other injuries from which it could not recover and it was humanely killed. The only damage to the vehicle was a broken shaft. Ormiston is twenty-six years old, an employee of the Bass company and boards at 350 Killea street. The horse he was driving belonged to Dr. William Myers, who purchased it in Bluffton for $200 a few weeks ago.

RUN DOWN ON CROSSING.

Louis C. Baker Painfully Hurt at Lafayette Street.

Louis C. Baker, employed at the Pennsylvania tank shop, was struck by the engine pulling the Wabash's Continental limited shortly after 12 o'clock today as he was riding on his bicycle across the company's tracks. The train was running at a rapid rate and Mr. Baker was hurled violently to the ground. He was picked up, taken to the Wabash depot and thence sent to his home, on Tabor street, where his wounds were treated by Dr. Kaadt, the company's surgeon. Mr. Baker escaped broken bones, but he was badly cut about the head and face and his side and hips were bruised. The injured man is sixty years old and has been an employee of the Pennsylvania thirty-five years. He is a car builder by trade, but when his health failed a few years ago, he was transferred to the tank shop and given a lighter task. His bicycle is a complete wreck.

PAINTER ENTERTAINS FRIENDS.

E. Steil, painter at the Pennsylvania shops, and his wife entertained a number of his shopmates and other friends Saturday evening. The shopmates of Mr. Steil appeared on improvised hobby horses, representing German cavalry, in honor of Mr. Steil, who was a cavalryman in the German army. The evening was very pleasantly spent in games and listening to music. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bunck, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Manock, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carrington, Miss Louise Spindler, Miss Madge Kelley, Miss May Quinn, Clifford Talmage, Ed DeLagrange and J. L. Beyerlein.

SHOP FOREMEN'S MEETING.

The general foremen of the Pennsylvania shops at Fort Wayne, Toledo, Cleveland, Conway, Chicago, Ashtabula and Columbus are holding a conference in this city today, the meeting being held at the office of General Foreman J. A. Graham, at the Lafayette street shops. Car work is the topic of discussion and the participants, besides Mr. Graham, are J. Riechman, Toledo; A. L. Hale, Cleveland; G. J. Dure, Conway; F. C. Kroff, Chicago; S. Bliss, Ashtabula, and C. F. Thiele, Columbus.

BRIDGE OUT OF ALIGNMENT.

A large steamer butted against the Pennsylvania bridge across the South Branch river at Chicago early yesterday morning and put it out of alignment. While the bridge was probably perfectly safe, trains on the Fort Wayne line were not permitted to use the bridge until it had been straightened, and trains were sent around over the Panhandle line, causing more or less delay to them. The bridge is in normal condition today and trains are running on time.

WILLIAM LOWE RESIGNS.

William Lowe, for two years stenographer for Col. R. G. Thompson, of the Wabash ticket office, resigned Saturday evening and this morning took a more responsible position in the shipping department of the Fort Wayne Rolling mills. Colonel Thompson has not yet secured a successor to Mr. Lowe. The young man was universally courteous to the patrons of the railway, who had learned to like him, and they will be pleased to learn that he has taken a better position.

DANIEL CALHOUN HURT.

Daniel Calhoun, an erector for the Kerr Murray works, is in Epworth hospital, South Bend, suffering from wounds received by a fall of twenty-five feet at that city. He was severely bruised about the face, head and body, but none of the wounds are dangerous and Mr. Calhoun will probably be able to come home in a few days. He was engaged in erecting a big gas holder at South Bend.

FOOT BADLY CUT.

Engineer G. W. Erwin, of the Pennsylvania, suffered a painful wound yesterday by stepping upon a portion of a broken beer bottle. Mr. Erwin was out on the road with a train and while at a siding he alighted and started to walk about the engine for the purpose of oiling the machinery when he stepped upon the glass and the sides ran into his foot, cutting the member badly.

ONE KILLED; ANOTHER INJURED

Miss Mabel Meyers was killed and J. W. Harper was seriously injured at Ada, Ohio, at 9 o'clock last night by being struck by a Pennsylvania engine on a street crossing. The horse was also killed and the vehicle demolished. The young people had been at church and had started for their home in the country and failed to notice the approach of the train.

WILL HAVE A SMOKER.

The Electrotechnic club will have a meeting tomorrow evening, when Superintendent E. A. Barnes, of the Electric works, will read an interesting paper on "Automobiles and Steam Locomotives." Following the lecture, the members of the club will enjoy a smoker.

PROSECUTOR HANDS OUT GOOD WARMING TO PRISONER

Shows Him Up and Asks Court to Give Him Another Opportunity.

Deputy Prosecutor Harry W. Nindt handed William Sproat a hot line of talk in city court this morning after a plea of guilty had been entered to a charge of public intoxication and then asked the court to give the man another chance on account of pitiful conditions at home.

Sproat acknowledged that he has a wife and seven children at home and that Mrs. Sproat is disabled by a fractured leg. The prosecutor read him the riot act about spending his money for drink with his family in such shape and the judge told him he could depart, but he must hustle for a job and report next Monday morning that he is supporting his family properly.

The man went into Jimmy Noonan's Columbia street saloon Saturday and got into a difficulty with the proprietor, who threw two glasses at him and broke out a window pane.

Girls Are Held.

Florence Gohagan was up on the charge of stealing a watch fob at Bruder's jewelry store and entered a plea of guilty. She has been in trouble before and on that account was held to the circuit court, which has authority to commit her to the industrial prison for women at Indianapolis. Louise Rodenbeck was up for loitering and given into custody of the probation officer.

The Other Cases.

Theodore Johnson borrowed a revolver last summer to shoot a dog and a day or two ago he picked it up and slipped it in his overcoat pocket. When he put the coat on he forgot the gun and was arrested for carrying it. He was told to return the weapon and his case was continued.

Marion Fisher got $1 and costs for having a plain jag that he could not carry home Saturday night.

Charles Donahue, who had been in jail so often he could not remember places and dates, was fined $5 and costs for vagrancy.

Charles Morris, who went to a house of ill fame Sunday and picked up some diamonds, was not prosecuted for larceny but got off with a fine of $1 and costs for drunkenness.

Attend the great sale at the Patterson store.
